HAVE GOT

- When we use the verb “Have GOT” (with “got”), then, it acts as the “Auxiliary”, so, to create a negative sentence we simply say “haven´t” or “hasn´t”.
- Look at the table and examples below:

	FOR: I, you, we, they	FOR: he, she, it
Positive	I have got	He HAS got
Negative	You haven´t got	She HASN´T got
Question	Have they got?	HAS he got?

- Examples of Positive sentences:
  I have got a dog.
  He has got a sister.

- Examples of Negative sentences:
  I haven’t got a brother.
  She hasn´t got a cat.

- Examples of Questions:
  Have you got apples? (Notice that “Have” goes at the beginning of the sentence)
  Has he got friends? (Notice that “Has” goes at the beginning of the sentence)
